

Hou Hanru Lecture: Exhibitions making places

Monday, September 9, 2013 6:00 p.m.~8:00 p.m. (doors open: 5:30 p.m.)

The Japan Foundation will host a lecture program titled "Exhibitions making places." The lecturer Hou Hanru is a curator who has curated numerous exhibitions, biennales and triennales worldwide including the 5th Auckland Triennial (2013), and has been appointed the new artistic director of Rome's Maxxi - Museo nazionale delle arti del XXI secolo, effective September 2013.

In this lecture, he will talk about his recent projects and introduce how they helped reconsider the question of new social relationship between art and the community.

Date: Monday, September 9, 2013 6:00 p.m.~8:00 p.m. (doors open: 5:30 p.m.)

Venue: JFIC Hall "Sakura", The Japan Foundation

*There will be a small reception party after the lecture

*Admission is free (Maximum capacity: 80 people-advance booking is necessary)

*Consecutive interpretation (English-Japanese) is provided
