

E-books

1. In addition to conventional teaching materials and paper books, the Japan Foundation will also cover electronic teaching materials and e-books. Various companies provide various services for e-books. Below are links to several major providers (you may also use services not listed below).
2. For reference, A and B handle the e-books for the Japanese-language teaching materials developed by the Japan Foundation (JF), Marugoto: Japanese Language and Culture.
3. To use the services, it is necessary for the applying organization (e.g. university or other education institution) to sign a contract with the service provider for use of the service. Please prepare to conclude a contract with the service provider when you apply for the service. Service providers expect to sign a contract with educational institutions such as schools and universities. If you are a teachers' association or academic society for example, and do not have a fixed office address, it may be difficult to enter into a contract. For details, please refer to the service provider's website and contact them directly.

A. KinoDen (Kinokuniya Bookstore)

<https://www.kinokuniya.co.jp/03f/ebook/kinoden/index.html>

Marugoto Japanese Language and Culture Series

<https://www.kinokuniya.co.jp/03f/ebook/kinoden/img/KD0187.pdf>

B. Maruzen eBook Library (MARUZEN-YUSHODO)

https://kw.maruzen.co.jp/ln/eb1/eb1\_01.html

C. JK Books (Japan Knowledge)

<https://japanknowledge.com/library/jkbooks.html>

D. EBSCO

<https://www.ebsco.com/ja-jp>

List of Japanese books

<http://www.ebsco.co.jp/ebooks/jpbooks.html>

E. OverDrive

<https://overdrivejapan.jp>

F. Tezuka Osamu Manga Digital Library (Far Eastern Booksellers)

<https://www.igrouppjapan.com/contents/tezuka-manga/>