Take Actions for Social Change
Program Guideline

1. Purpose

The Japan Foundation, in cooperation with the ASEAN University Network, is organizing an exchange program to deepen mutual understanding between young people in ASEAN countries and Japan as part of the “Partnership to Co-create a Future with the Next Generation: WA Project 2.0”, a comprehensive people-to-people exchange initiative that aims to promote exchange among the next generation and develop human resources in ASEAN and Japan.

This project provides an opportunity for international exchange and idea sharing with young people of the same generation from diverse backgrounds, targeting university undergraduates who wish to take concrete actions to solve social issues under the common interest of “co-creating a peaceful and better world in 2050”. Through the experience of “meeting”, “studying together” and “working collaboratively toward the same goal” with other students who have diverse values and different cultural backgrounds, participants can “expand perspectives”, “increase acceptance and tolerance of different cultural environments” and “acquire the desire and skills to take action leading to social change”.

The theme for 2024 is “Good Health and Well-being”. Each team of participants will develop their own questions and explore the theme through online programs, field trips in ASEAN and Japan, and other activities. Then, through dialogue with other team members, participants will create action plans (proposals) to co-create a better world, and each team will present a report on the outcome.

The program is expected to build human connections between young people in ASEAN countries and Japan that may last long, and participants are expected to play an active role in the future as global leaders who can help bring about meaningful social change.
